Integrated Document Technologies Joins Computhink's Software Reseller Program

Lombard, IL, March 5, 2012 – Computhink, an industry-leading developer of electronic content management solutions, announced today that Chicago-based Integrated Document Technologies, Inc. (IDT) has joined its Value-Added Reseller (VAR) program.

With nearly 20 years of comprehensive Enterprise Content Management (ECM) experience, IDT provides a full range of integrated offerings including software applications, hardware, and systems for document imaging as well as strategic consulting services. As a Computhink software VAR, IDT will leverage their in-depth knowledge and experience in implementing content management solutions with the goal of streamlining accounting and other organizational processes for their clients.

“Computhink’s strategy of selling its ViewWise Enterprise Content Management solutions through a dedicated reseller channel is key to our success and we only partner with the best of class resellers such as IDT. Their expertise in providing ECM/Integrated document management software solutions aligns perfectly with our business model and should result in immediate success for all of us,” said John Stelmach, President of Computhink. “We are pleased that IDT has chosen Computhink and look forward to our joint partnership as we position ourselves to meet the ever growing demand for ECM solutions in our market segments.”

By offering the ViewWise Document Management Solution and other Computhink products, IDT will be able to provide organizations a content management solution that might have otherwise been out of their price range. They can do this while still providing the robust set of features found in ViewWise, such as document imaging, workflow and enterprise report management.

“IDT is always looking for industry-leading technologies that will provide us a well-rounded product set to offer to our customers,” said Michael Ciabattari, President of IDT. He continued, “Computhink’s focus on the small and medium business market will help us provide cost effective solutions to organizations that may not have the budget for a more expensive content management system.”

In addition, ViewWise lends itself to integration with existing financials system in a fast and cost-effective manner. This will allow IDT to give companies of all sizes the competitive edge and increased efficiencies of which larger organizations are already taking advantage.
