Shure Incorporated Bets on Web-Based Content Management

Renowned Audio Equipment Maker Beats Data Overload with Universal Content Management

For a company that produces audio electronics that help people express themselves, Shure Incorporated of Niles, IL has found a new way to better express itself – internally and externally. Use of a new, "universal" content management tool allows all the company's information to be stored, accessed and managed on the Web.

Case Summary: Legendary audio electronics maker Shure Inc. partners with Integrated Document Technologies, Inc. (IDT) to harness global knowledge with the Stellent Universal Content Management system, enabling it to create a central knowledge management repository and fuel an aggressive e-business strategy. The new system permits all the company's information to be stored, accessed and managed on the web, enhancing information sharing and operational efficiency, and making it easier to manage its multi-lingual web site.

How Microsoft Dynamics GP can help with Regulatory Compliance

Expedite regulatory compliance and make good governance a business advantage

Complying with regulations, industry standards, and corporate quality initiatives can be complex and costly both for the companies that need to realize compliance and those doing business with them. Microsoft Dynamics GP offers ways to implement and monitor corporate compliance while easing the challenges often associated with it. Going beyond compliance, Microsoft Dynamics GP helps you control business processes and planning better, and bring about a business culture of accountability.

Ask the Expert

Question: “We’re considering a Laserfiche Document Management System. As a city office, we’ve certainly got concerns and questions about how the product fits with the local government industry. Do you have any recommendations for where we can get more information that is specific to our needs?”

Answer: As always, if you have questions about any Document, Enterprise Content, or Business Management System, we are here to help. Our team here at IDT can provide you with further information, industry-specific case studies, product demonstrations, and more.

However, for your interest in local government solutions from Laserfiche, we’d also recommend you check out their upcoming Webcast. “Best Practices in Local Government: Capture, Store and Retrieve” will be held multiple times this Spring including April 20, May 8, May 30 and June 14. You can find out more or register here.

And, if other Integration Insider readers have industry-specific questions, don’t hesitate to ask! We can help you get the information you need to make an informed business decision and select the solution that fits your unique business needs. The IDT team can be reached at 630.875.1100 or info@idt-inc.com.
